

MODERN MUDROOM

The Office Design of Tomorrow is Here

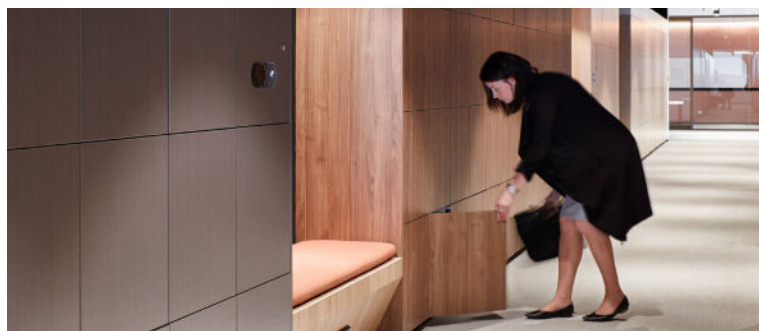

The office building entrance should be a place for employees and visitors to feel WELCOMED and CARED FOR right off the bat. When you mix smart lockers with the reception desk you get THE MODERN MUDROOM. Think of it like any mudroom — a place to stash your belongings that you know you won't need until you are ready to leave again.

When you implement that into an office you get a welcoming area for employees to for employees to select a locker and know their belongings are secure and safe. They can store an extra pair of shoes for the walk to the transit station or a large winter coat.

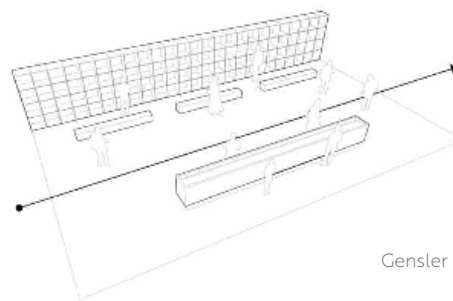

TOUCHLESS SMART LOCKERS

The touchless lockers pop open with the use of an RFID card, mobile credentials, or smart app creating a contactless experience. Disable all or only used lockers for cleaning from the administrative controls with the smart lock software. Set lockers as assigned or unassigned with the click of a button for full time in-office employees and hybrid working employees that are only coming in a few times a week. The flexibility is nearly endless to make smart lockers work for you.

A LASTING FIRST IMPRESSION

When employees and visitors enter the building, they will immediately feel welcomed and get the impression that they are cared for. Offering a place for employees and visitors to store personal belongings is an amenity that will not go unnoticed. Not only will it create a lasting first impression but it will also keep the office space clean and less cluttered.

Gensler Illustration