

WORKPLACE ISLANDS

The Office Design of Tomorrow is Here

MEET-UP HUB

As companies start to navigate through the new hybrid working model, they will reconfigure the office and remove permanent desking and incorporate more shared spaces. Employees will be heading into the office for meetings and collaboration, so give them a space to do just that and be sure to equip them with the tools they need to succeed.

Custom-designed islands can vary depending on your needs — from standing to sitting, lockers for personal storage, cabinets and drawers to even integrated plumbing and electrical raceways. Use in your workplace for collaborative meetings with whiteboard surface finishing to visually show ideas and brainstorming exercises.

Part workstation and part storage — these islands take multitasking as seriously as you do. With the addition of casters you can move islands around or even connect them to create a larger area for more employees to meet and collaborate. Islands can fit into any area as space dividers in the office neighborhood or even against a wall in front of a tv for a makeshift meeting room.
